

Merry Money Round-Up – Holiday Savings Ideas from Leading Personal Finance Experts

Here's a quick look around the Internet to see what some of the leading personal finance experts are talking about when it comes to helping you save money this shopping season!

Jean Chatzky

TODAY Show financial editor Jean Chatzky offers advice on how to be smart about spending this time of year, including using balances on gift cards to buy holiday presents. Some numbers Jean shared:

$1 billion – That's the amount left on gift cards annually. Gather them up and use balances for your holiday shopping. Also, there are websites like cardpool.com to trade and sell gift cards. Bottom line: Don't leave the cards in the junk drawer. Use up the balances before they possibly expire.

$47 billion – That's the value of old iPhones gathering dust, that you should be selling, when you get a new one. Websites like gazelle.com are a great place to sell your old iPhones and other electronics.

56% – According to a new study, that is percentage of parents willing to go into debt for the holidays. While you may have a merry holiday now, come January you may experience some buyer's remorse, when the credit card bills come in.

Suze Orman

As the annual shopping season kicks into high gear, are you wondering if that gift for your loved one is a smart one to buy?

You can ask Personal Finance Guru

Suze Orman! Log on tosuzeorman.com

and follow the link to the guest page. She talks to her guests via Skype every night on her show.

Terry Savage

Terry Savage, personal finance columnist, discusses the annual dilemma of what to give your children or grandchildren for the holiday season. Once you get past the popular holiday toys (think Frozen anything!), or clothes (not very exciting), there are some real opportunities to make your gift a rewarding money experience for the young people in your life.

Terry suggests some simple money-saving gifts, including: The Money-Savvy Piggy Bank (mngen.com, $18.99) -- This four-chambered, see-through plastic piggy bank is designed to teach even very young children that they should set aside money for different reasons: saving, spending, donating and investing.

OMG Official Money Guide for Teens (mngen.com, $12.95)

— Written by Susan and Michael Beacham, founders of the MoneySavvy Generation website, this guide for young teens is easy to read but not patronizing. It focuses on money choices ranging from saving and spending, to how to pay for the things you buy.

Kelli Grant

Personal finance columnist Kelli Grant is helping people hit the slopes for a cheaper rate! Skiers, like airline passengers and amusement park goers, are increasingly finding that there's an advantage in planning ahead. "Regardless of where you're going skiing, it's very straightforward: If you buy it now, you're going to pay less than if you buy it later," said Evan Reece, co-founder and chief executive of Liftopia.

Want to learn more ways to save? Read GreenPath's blog on ten quick holiday savings tips from the National Foundation for Credit Counseling and the Association of Independent Consumer Credit Counseling Agencies. Click on greenpathref.com – Financial Education – Write on the Money blog.

Free Student Loan Counseling Available

Are you or someone you know struggling with student loan debt? GreenPath can help.

The cost of college has increased over the years, so more students have taken out loans to help finance their education. And the amount of those loans has steadily increased. Student loan debt now exceeds $1.1 trillion — significantly more than credit card debt or auto loan debt.

As more students borrow money without a plan to repay the loans, delinquencies and defaults have risen at an alarming rate. Excluding borrowers not yet in repayment, more than 30 percent of national borrowers are 90+ days delinquent. And, excluding accounts in deferment or forbearance, delinquency rates exceed 50 percent!

The problem is not limited to young people. Of students at four-year universities, entering repayment in 2002, only 44 percent paid off their student loans within 10 years. This is saddling people with student loan debt well into their 30s, 40s and beyond.

GreenPath Offers Student Loan Assistance

OK, so how can GreenPath help with student loan debt? We can:

- Audit your student loans to help you figure out the loan terms and payment requirements.
- Help you explore federal student loan repayment options.
- Assess debt management options for credit cards or other unsecured debt.
- Develop a customized budget and spending plan.

Call GreenPath at (877) 337-3399 for a free student loan debt consultation.

Chase Financial Coaching Grant

GreenPath was recently awarded a $25,000 Chase Financial Literacy Grant to help expand the company's Financial Coaching pilot program in 2015.

GreenPath's Financial Coaching program is designed to help consumers reach their financial goals and build financial capability, with ongoing support from a personal coach. For more information, call (877)290-6314 or email financialcoaching@greenpath.com.

GreenPath Reviews on ConsumerAffairs.com

If GreenPath has helped you, consider sharing your story on ConsumerAffairs.com. Here's a recent submission:

From Brian: "The GreenPath team helped my family and I pay off over $109,000 worth of consumer debt. The staff was always friendly and helpful. They were able to work with my creditors to reduce interest rates and ensure my monthly payments were helping to pay down more of my debt. I would recommend their services to anyone looking for help. They are simply the best."

Log on to www.consumeraffairs.com/debt\_counsel/greenpath.html to tell us your story!

Facebook Feedback

Clients give us feedback on our Facebook page from time to time.

Mary Lou J. said: "I can't say how much Wayne and I are appreciative to GreenPath for helping us. The guys and gals there that have helped us were always like family, when you needed to work something out."

More than 2,200 people have liked our GreenPath Facebook page so far! Log on to www.facebook.com/greenpathdebt and get news updates, personal finance video links, timely tips and more.