

Sunshine On Your Mind

Greetings Michael,

Especially for those who endured the long and hard winter, we hope that you are basking in some sunshine. It is well known that sunlight triggers the brain's production of serotonin and lowers depression risk. However, studies have also shown that sunshine can trigger a measurable increase in prosocial, altruistic behavior. People on sunny days are actually more likely to offer kind statements to strangers, leave higher tips, and help individuals in need compared to cloudy days.

On this sunny day, we have some interesting articles to share including one from the Economist on the highly anticipated giga-IPOs of SpaceX, Anthropic, and OpenAI. Also on the AI front, the WSJ helps breakdown how OpenAI just cracked a puzzle that has stumped the most brilliant mathematicians for 80 years, and why it was unimaginable just months ago. The Business Insider explains how lower-than-expected demand has helped keep oil prices from moving even higher. Finally, a Bloomberg piece offers some helpful tips for travel plans that may be impacted by inflation and the ongoing geopolitical instability.

We wish you all the best for the summer season and look forward to connecting with you soon.

Mike & Perry

Mike Newman & Perry Adams

West Shore Bank Wealth Management

231-346-1528

miken@westshorebank.com

Contact Us

Can the stockmarket swallow Anthropic, SpaceX and OpenAI?

June 1, 2026

The Economist

Watch out for indigestion.

Read more →

A Famous Math Problem Stumped Humans for 80 Years.

AI Just Cracked It.

June 1, 2026

The math world is losing its mind over the new solution to an Erdős problem. This is what AI...

Read more →

The biggest story in oil isn't just supply anymore

June 2, 2026

The oil markets spent months worrying about supply disruptions in the Middle East.

Read more →

How to Travel in the Summer of Chaos

May 26, 2026

Airfare spikes, delays and overbooked flights are hitting travelers hard. Here's how to not get...

Read more →

400 East Eighth Street - Traverse City, MI 49686

If you no longer wish to receive this newsletter, unsubscribe here.